SENATE PASSES NAPLIN RAILWAY SHOP BILL

NO MOVEMENT OF SHOPS WITHOUT STATE SANCTION

RAILWAYS SEEKING CHANGES
MUST APPLY STATE R. & W.
COMMISSION

HEARING MUST BE HELD TO ASCERTAIN IF SUCH MOVING IS JUSTIFIED

St. Paul, April 4.—(UP)—The senate today by a vote of 41 to 19 passed a bill sponsored by Senator Laura E. Naplin, Thief River Falls, and others, which would give the state railroad and warehouse commission control over moving of railroad shops and terminals from one city to another.

Railroads may now move shops or terminals as they please and it was said that several Minnesota cities had suffered greatly by these movements.

Under the Naplin bill the railroads would be required to apply to the commission for permission to move shops and a hearing would be held to see if such moving was justified.

St. Paul, April 4.—(UP)—A bill sponsored by Senator Laura E. Naplin, Thief River Falls, which would increase from 18 to 21 the age limit of female minors who now come under the minimum wage laws, was passed today by the senate.

St. Paul, April 4.—(UP)—The Minnesota house committee on motor vehicles today completed its work for the present session when it took final action on eight bills, one of which was the important semi-compulsory liability insurance bill for automobile drivers.

Under this measure, recommended by the committee for passage, motor owners who have participated in accidents but refused to pay damages which occurred would have their licenses revoked and would be unable to have them reinstated until they proved that they had taken out both liability and property damage insurance.

The committee also recommended passage of measures which would require public utilities paying gross earnings taxes to secure licenses for all motor vehicles they operate, and which would reduce license tax on busses operated by lines in two or more contiguous cities from 10 to 3.4 per cent.

A bill which would have exempted disabled veterans from paying motor vehicle taxes was killed.

The senate and house still were widely separated on the matter of appropriations but it was believed that some compromise soon would be effected between the two bodies. The senate now favors appropriation some $2,000,000 or more greater than those approved by the house.

Representatives of northern Minnesota mining companies and citizens of range towns were expected to come to an understanding today on legislation to lower the per capita tax limit in their area.

Representative Roy E. Dunn of Pelican Rapids, was balked in his plans to speak for his cigarette tax bill before the senate tax committee as scheduled Wednesday when the regent election took so much time. The bill which would impose a 2-cent tax on cigarettes already has passed the house and has a fair chance to get the approval of the senate some time next week.

Meanwhile the senate motor vehicle committee recommended for passage late Wednesday a bill which would require Minnesota automobile drivers to be licensed.

At the same time Representative John A. Weeks, Minneapolis, sought to secure action on a bill which would require the state to reimburse approximately $2,000,000 through the promotion schemes of C. A. Cochran convicted gold note promoter.

Weeks contends that the fraud was possible only because of the negligence of a state official.

NEXT MEETING OF LEAGUE COUNCIL AT MADRID, SPAIN

Geneva, April 4.—(UP)—Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League of Nations, notified all league members today that the next meeting of the League council will be in Madrid, Spain, on June 10. The council meeting will follow that of June 6 of the committee which is to prepare a report on minorities.

Three Persons Burned to Death in Plane Accident

ASKS BOMBING INTERESTS TO LET HIS HOUSE ALONE

Chicago, April 4.—(UP)—John Landis, recently transferred to Chicago from Boston to open a branch for a New York brokerage house, completed negotiations for the purchase of the house formerly occupied by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris.

Then he reached for a telephone and inserted this notice in a local paper:

"To the bombing interests of Chicago:
"I understand that Mr. Fitzmorris' home was bombed once or twice. Now I want a nice, peaceful home for my wife and child and I thought if this little notice was put in the paper about the sale of the house to me it would prevent recurrence of the bombings. I'm sure the bombing interests of Chicago will be kind enough to take note of this."

EXPECT TO SOLVE A MYSTERY OF AVIATION

PARTS OF AN AIRPLANE FOUND THAT ENDED FLIGHT IN PACIFIC OCEAN

WRECKAGE WASHED ASHORE AT RIVER MOUTH 100 MILES
FROM SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, April 4.—(UP)—One of aviation's mysteries was expected to be solved today with the identification of parts of an airplane that apparently ended its flight in the Pacific ocean.

The wreckage was found washed ashore at the mouth of the Little Sur river, more than a hundred miles south of here, and were brought to San Francisco for identification in hope that they might unfold an unfinished chapter of the 1927 Dole flight of Honolulu, which ended with three planes and seven persons missing.

This wreckage could solve the mystery of only one of these three planes, however, since it included parts of a radio set. Only one of the Dole planes, that of Captain William Erwin and Navigator Alvin E. Eichwaldt, who went down at sea while searching for the two others, carried a radio.

2 MORE PLANES TO SEARCH FOR SOUTHERN CROSS

AUSTRALIA SENDS RELIEF BY AIR, WATER AND LAND

IS NOW BELIEVED KINGSFORD-
SMITH PLANE MAY BE NEAR PORT GEORGE

Sydney, N. S. W., April 4.—(UP)—Two more planes are scheduled to leave here tomorrow to join in the wide search by air, land and water for the missing airplane Southern Cross and its four occupants.

Col. Brinsmead, director of civil aviation, said two planes were searching northwestern Australia today on the clue given by the Drysdale Mission workers, who reported that a plane believed to have been the Southern Cross passed over there before the fliers radioed they were making a forced landing in "rotten country."

Col. Brinsmead said the Drysdale Mission report had greatly strengthened the belief that the plane eventually would be found near Port George.

ALEXANDER ZOUBKOFF DEPORTED BY FRANCE

Paris, April 4.—(UP)—Alexander Zoubkoff, Russian brother-in-law of the former kaiser of Germany, found himself in new difficulties today. He was deported by France, after his temporary visa had expired, and was escorted to the Luxemburg frontier by a member of the secret police.

Rebel Aviators Raid Naco, in Sonora, Mexico, Drop 7 Bombs, 3 of Which Hit Federal Trench

LOYAL PLANES THEN DRIVE AWAY INVADING CRAFT

TWO FEDERAL FLIERS KILLED
WHEN PLANE EXPLODED
AND FELL

FEDERAL ARMY CLAIMS VICTORY AT REFORMA, NORTH OF JIMINEZ

Naco, Sonora, Mexico, April 4.—(UP)—Rebel aviators raided Naco again today, dropping seven bombs, three of which struck in federal trenches.

Federal headquarters reported that no casualties resulted.

Loyal planes took to the air and the raiding craft withdrew.

Naco, Sonora, Mexico, April 4.—Two federal aviators were killed when their plane exploded and fell in flames over the rebel lines five miles south of here today.

The men, Captain Rini Gutierrez, pilot, and Lt. Gavona, observer, went aloft to bomb insurgent troops in retaliation for an early morning air raid rebels made on the Naco garrison.

They had dropped three bombs among the insurgents when their plane broke into flames and dropped in burning fragments.

Rebel troop movements were not known here, but it was not believed that another attack would be made on the garrison until tomorrow.

The first assault yesterday resulted in a victory for the federals.

By G. F. FINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mexico City, April 4.—The federal army continued today its "campaign of extermination" against rebel forces after a bloody battle at Reforma in which Gen. Juan Almazan reported the Escobar force of 5,000 men was "definitely eliminated."

The presidencia announced that all of the rebel trains carrying Gen. J. Gonzales Escobar's army from Jimenez were captured and "all rebels killed or taken prisoners."

Definite reports of casualties were not available at the presidential palace but General Almazan said the slaughter had been great when federal cavalry closed in on the rebel trains which were halted by burned bridges.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles informed the president that "in my opinion

PRESIDENT HOOVER NURSES SWOLLEN HAND TODAY

Washington, April 4.—(UP)—President Hoover nursed a swollen hand today and resolved to restrict still further his hand shaking activities. One thousand seven hundred and fifty-seven tourists who grasped the presidential hand yesterday at his semi-weekly public reception left it so stiff and swollen the president could scarcely write when he reached his office this morning.

the death blow to the rebellion was dealt at Reforma."

Federal leaders described the battle as "real butchery" and the rebels were reported to have suffered tremendous casualties in dead and wounded.

Calles informed the government that 5,000 troops which he had been holding in reserve at Torreon pending the result of the Jimenez campaign, would be dispatched to the states of Jalisco, Guanajuata and Zacatecas for a renewed campaign against the Cristeros.

Rebel chiefs were reported to be deserting their command during the thick of the battle, but the rebel troops fought valiantly, according to General Almazan.

He informed the government that the rebels made a valiant stand and inflicted heavy losses on the federal forces. He asked that medical supplies be sent to the front.

"The rebels made a determined attack," General Almazan said, "but they succumbed at last before our drive, which definitely eliminated the main force of General Escobar (the rebel commander-in-chief)."

"The rebels who were not killed now are our prisoners. The carnage among the rebels was stupendous. Today's wounded and those already on the hospital trains are being cared for."

The presidencia awaited further reports from Calles and Almazan, being especially anxious to learn the extent of the casualties. President Portes Gil telegraphed congratulations to Calles and Almazan on their "glorious triumph of the loyal army."

Up to a late hour this morning there was no definite statement as to the number of casualties. The estimate from the front merely said "stupendous."

"More than five hundred men were wounded. The number of dead was much greater."

It was announced that 44 rebel generals had been stricken from the army list, including nine division commanders.

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE DRY RAID KILLING CASE

DISAPPEARANCE OF EUGENE
BOYD FAIRCHILD, INVESTIGATOR

POSSIBILITY OF AN INVESTIGATION OF MATTER BY LEGISLATURE

Geneva, Ill., April 4.—(UP)—Two developments added fuel today to the fire of interest in the dry raid killing of Mrs. Lillian De King in Aurora — the disappearance of Eugene Boyd Fairchild, investigator, when charged with perjury, and the possibility of an investigation by the state legislature.

The assembly, it was learned, will debate a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation into what Rep. John F. Pettit termed "the murderous slaying" of Mrs. De King.

The warrant charging Fairchild with perjury for swearing to an affidavit that resulted in the raid on the De King home, was sworn out yesterday by Albert J. Kelley, attorney for the family.

When Sheriff Leslie Urch sent a deputy to Fairchild's rooms, the investigator had disappeared.

Kelley said he felt that Fairchild was more responsible for the slaying of Mrs. De King than Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who fired the shotgun charge that entered her stomach, mortally wounding her.

Smith was under technical arrest in his room in an Elgin hospital on manslaughter charges, the result of a coroner's jury verdict that he shot Mrs. De King "unnecessarily" while aiding other deputies in a raid.

"If Fairchild had not sworn falsely to the affidavit that caused issuance of the search warrant, Mrs. De King would be alive," Kelley said.

Next move in the prosecution of Smith and Fairchild will be up to a grand jury that convenes here April 8. Kelley said he expected indictments against both.

The Pettit resolution was laid on the legislature table yesterday without debate but was expected to be called up for action today.

Plymouth, England, April 4.—(UP)—Former U. S. Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg was reported ill in bed with a cold when the French liner Ile de France arrived here today. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg are enroute to France for a vacation.

WOMEN START MOVEMENT TO REPEAL DRY ACT

New York, April 4.—(UP)—A nation-wide movement of women for modification or repeal of the prohibition law has been started here under the leadership of Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, who resigned recently as republican national committeewoman from New York.

The first hint of Mrs. Sabin's plans came when she addressed a luncheon meeting of the Women's National Republican club. After stating her opposition to the dry laws, Mrs. Sabin said:

"I believe there are thousands who feel as I do, and that it is time to reorganize and work for some change in the law that will bring about the true temperance desired by all and, which, I believe, was the sincere purpose of many good people who supported the eighteenth amendment."

Mrs. Sabin is the wife of Chas. H. Sabin, treasurer of the Society Against the Prohibition Amendment.

WISCONSIN IN PLEA TO REPEAL PROHIBITION ACT

NOW RESTS ON DOORSTEP OF WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE
AWAITING ACTION

WETS PILED UP A MAJORITY OF
MORE THAN 100,000 VOTES
AS PROTEST

Milwaukee, Wis., April 4.—(UP)—Wisconsin's plea for repeal of the state prohibition enforcement act and 2.75 per cent beer, rested on the doorstep of the legislature today awaiting action.

Wets, after piling up a majority of more than 100,000 votes as a protest against the eighteenth amendment and Volstead and Jones acts, clamored for the legislators to heed results of Tuesday's referendum and wipe the Severson act off the statute books and erase penalties for making beer—a product for which this city was made famous.

Latest figures from 2,109 precincts out of the state's 2,771 showed 292,397 votes favoring the repeal and 152,363 against. Results in 1,924 precincts for beer legislation showed 261,821 for and 135,480 against.

Since the referendum does not automatically change the law, the real battle between wets and dries will come in the legislature chambers in Madison. The legislature had indicated it would be guided by the vote.

Rumbles of the impending fight were heard today in a wet move that threatened to demand recall of legislators who vote against repeal in face of wet majorities in their districts.

First indications of the recall move came from Senator Thomas M. Duncan, leader of the wet forces and sponsor of the resolution which forced the referendum.

"One senator voted against the referendum resolution," Duncan said, "and his district gave a mandate of almost 4 to 1 for repeal. In a case of this kind a legislator should be recalled by popular petition."

Drys appeared undaunted by results of the vote, which they termed a "futile referendum."

The Rev. Warren G. Jones, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, pointed out that results showed that the dries may carry a majority of the counties despite the heavy state wide vote against them. He said he looked for senators and representatives to vote as their constituents directed instead as the state wide vote directed.

First action in the legislature on a repeal bill is expected to come next Wednesday when a hearing is scheduled before the committee on excise taxes and fees on a bill knocking out the Severson act.

DR. H. G. JAMES NEW PRESIDENT OF U. OF N.D.

Austin, Tex., April 4.—(UP)—Dr. H. G. James, former professor of government in the University of Texas, has been named as president of the University of North Dakota, according to word received here.

MONOPLANE NOSES OVER WHEN BANKING

FALLS 600 FEET NEAR WICHITA,
KANSAS, AND CATCHES
ON FIRE

PILOT WAS TESTING SHIP PRIOR TO STARTING ON COLORADO
TRIP

Wichita, Kansas, April 4.—(UP)—Three persons were burned to death today when a cabin monoplane nosed over while banking and crashed at Scott City, near here. The plane fell 600 feet and caught fire after the impact.

The dead are: John Flourney, Wichita, pilot; Dr. C. C. McGinnis, Scott City, prominent surgeon of the southwest, and Chester Riley, Scott City, traveling salesman.

Flourney was testing the ship prior to starting on a fishing trip in Colorado.

Observers claimed the ship was an obsolete model. Bert Schmitt, owner of the plane, collapsed and was being treated in the hospital at Scott City founded by Dr. McGinnis.

The widow of the pilot boarded an airplane here and flew to the scene of the accident.

GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE SORROWS FOR HERRICK

FUNERAL SERVICES EQUALLED
THAT ACCORDED FRENCH
HEROES

THOUSANDS LINE ROUTE FROM EMBASSY TO THE CATHEDRAL

Paris, April 4.—(UP)—France paid a final tribute today to the memory of Myron T. Herrick, who served as American ambassador to Paris during the most trying days of modern history.

Marked by the simplicity which endeared the white-haired American diplomat to France, state funeral services were held at the embassy and the American Holy Trinity cathedral before the body of the ambassador was placed on a grey French cruiser for the last journey home.

There was no mourning crepe at the cathedral, but the bright flags of the two countries Herrick had served faithfully hung from the pillars before which Premier Raymond Poincare, Gen. John J. Pershing, J. Pierpont Morgan and many other distinguished figures of France and the United States stood in silence as services were held.

The cathedral services—following immediately after the short procession from the embassy, where General Pershing and others paid tribute to the ambassador—were ended within 20 minutes. The choir sang "Lead Kindly Light" and prayers were said.

The state funeral was not as elaborate as the procession which accompanied Marshal Ferdinand Foch to his crypt in the Invalides, but it was a farewell such as France probably never before gave to the ambassador of a foreign country.

Thousands of persons lined the short funeral route from the embassy to the cathedral where the bright sun shone upon the trappings of France's soldier guard of honor and escort. They stood bareheaded as the funeral cortege passed.

NO POSSIBILITY OF TAX CUT AT SPECIAL SESSION

Washington, April 4.—(UP)—There is no possibility of tax reduction legislation at the special session of congress, high treasury officials said today.

Asked if there might be a tax cut at the next regular session starting in December, officials said it was too early to consider that possibility at this time.

Jones, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, pointed out that results showed that the dries may carry a majority of the counties despite the heavy state wide vote against them. He said he looked for senators and representatives to vote as their constituents directed instead as the state wide vote directed.

First action in the legislature on a repeal bill is expected to come next Wednesday when a hearing is scheduled before the committee on excise taxes and fees on a bill knocking out the Severson act.

MONOPLANE NOSES OVER WHEN BANKING

FALLS 600 FEET NEAR WICHITA,
KANSAS, AND CATCHES
ON FIRE

PILOT WAS TESTING SHIP PRIOR TO STARTING ON COLORADO
ADO TRIP

Wichita, Kansas, April 4.—(UP)—Three persons were burned to death today when a cabin monoplane nosed over while banking and crashed at Scott City, near here. The plane fell 600 feet and caught fire after the impact.

The dead are: John Flourney, Wichita, pilot; Dr. C. C. McGinnis, Scott City, prominent surgeon of the southwest, and Chester Riley, Scott City, traveling salesman.

Flourney was testing the ship prior to starting on a fishing trip in Colorado.

Observers claimed the ship was an obsolete model. Bert Schmitt, owner of the plane, collapsed and was being treated in the hospital at Scott City founded by Dr. McGinnis.

The widow of the pilot boarded an airplane here and flew to the scene of the accident.

GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE SORROWS FOR HERRICK

HEROES

THOUSANDS LINE ROUTE FROM
CATHEDRAL

Paris, April 4.—(UP)—France paid a final tribute today to the memory of Myron T. Herrick, who served as American ambassador to Paris during the most trying days of modern history.

Marked by the simplicity which endeared the white-haired American diplomat to France, state funeral services were held at the embassy and the American Holy Trinity cathedral before the body of the ambassador was placed on a grey French cruiser for the last journey home.

There was no mourning crape at the cathedral, but the bright flags of the two countries Herrick had served faithfully hung from the pillars before which Premier Raymond Poincare, Gen. John J. Pershing, J. Pierpont Morgan and many other distinguished figures of France and the United States stood in silence as services were held.

The cathedral services—following immediately after the short procession from the embassy, where General Pershing and others paid tribute to the ambassador—were ended within 20 minutes. The choir sang "Lead Kindly Light" and prayers were said.

The state funeral was not as elaborate as the procession which accompanied Marshal Ferdinand Foch to his crypt in the Invalides, but it was a farewell such as France probably never before gave to the ambassador of a foreign country.

Thousands of persons lined the short funeral route from the embassy to the cathedral where the bright sun shone upon the trappings of France's soldier guard of honor and escort. They stood bareheaded as the funeral cortege passed.

NO POSSIBILITY OF TAX CUT AT SPECIAL SESSION

Washington, April 4.—(U.P.)—There is no possibility of tax reduction legislation at the special session of congress, high treasury officials said today.

Asked if there might be a tax cut at the next regular session starting in December, officials said it was too early to consider that possibility at this time.

STRING QUARTET HERE SUNDAY

Arthur Hartmann Group to be Concert Guests of Musical Club

PROGRAM AT 3:30 P. M.

Old Masters to be Reverenced; Equal Interest to be Shown in Living Masters

The Arthur Hartmann Quartet, musicians of unusual merit, will present a program Sunday afternoon, April 7 at the Elks hall starting at 3:30 o'clock under auspices of the Brainerd Musical club.

The string quartet, because of the absolute purity of its part writing, represents that which is the most clarified, the most beautiful and the loftiest that there is in musical form. As a rule, the greatest composers have cast their most profound musical utterances in the strict, the austere mould of four-part writing; and it is a generally conceded fact, among musicians, that even the mighty Beethoven has not attained the sublimated heights, has not revealed himself to the world in his immortal symphonies as he has in some of his string quartets.

The string quartet therefore is the aristocrat of music, as well as of musical form. It represents the perfect blending of four voices, of four individualities, each at times subservient to the others, each co-operating in the logical development of its own personal voice, of its own destiny, and all the achievement of the art ideal. Hence the playing of quartets requires the finest command of technique and maturity of musicianship. The culture of chamber music is not yet as widespread as the huge repertoire and the nobility of the works merits.

It is hoped that when an artist of the calibre of Arthur Hartmann dedicates himself to this endeavor that the public will help sustain and spread this influence. The Hartmann Quartet is not committed to one policy. It reverences the beautiful in the old masters, yet with equal interest welcomes the newer and the living masters.

Brilliance of Tone Shown by Pianists—Dance Pupils Give Clever Numbers

Over four hundred attended the recital given by the pupils of Miss Mildred Bredenberg, piano, and Miss Adelaide Bach, dancing, at the U. C. T. auditorium last evening.

On the piano, the majority of the pupils had taken instruction for only two to six months, and considering this they did remarkably well. A few of the older pupils gave solos, duets and trios, which were all enjoyed. In these selections, brilliancy of tone was especially noted.

Several dance numbers were given between the piano numbers, and all received generous applause. The "Dance of the Scarecrow" was very cleverly given.

The Mother Goose Dance Suite, given by a cast of ten portraying the Mother Goose characters so well known by all, was especially pleasing.

CHARLES KINKELE CALLED

CHARLES KINKELE, Walker business man and sportsman par excellence, has answered the last summons and gone to that bourne from which no traveler returneth.

Charley, as he was known to all his friends and they were legion in number, was in business in Brainerd for many years before he moved to Walker. Old timers remember the meat market he conducted in Brainerd.

At Walker he again entered business and had quite large realty interests. But he is best known to the Brainerd people of today for the interest he showed in fishing and other outdoor sports.

The Brainerd Fishing club engaged Charley as their chef to serve at the annual outing at Leech lake. Well, the breakfast in the woods served near the fishing grounds was the feast to delight epicures. Crisp bacon and fried potatoes, oatmeal, wonderful coffee, onions and celery, stacks of golden pancakes and topping all with luscious strawberries and cream. The way the horde of hungry fishermen devoured things there was never a crumb left and oftentimes Charley cautioned the Brainerd contingent to remember the guides had appetites too and had to be fed.

At noon came the fish dinner and it is no idle jest to say that every man ate 2 pounds of fish. The way Charley fried steaked pike, luscious and browned, was a meal fit for a king.

And while the crowd attacked the dinner, Charlie would go about, asking, "Have a little more fish, boys?" "Want another cup of coffee?" etc. The best testimonial as to his cooking ability is the fact that there never were any crumbs left.

Weeks before the fishing party Charlie assembled the boats, the commissary department, the guides and all the other details which always made the annual outing of the fishing club such a success.

Charlie's wife died years ago, but in her time she also gained fame as a great cook. Meals were served in family style and many a traveling man "made Walker" just so as to get a meal at the Kinkele hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinkele were of that age and period which believed that he profits most who serves best. To hold their friendship was a rare privilege.

The fishing club will send a glorious wreath of flowers as their tribute of love to Charlie. The funeral will be held Friday morning from the Catholic church at Walker.

W. H. GEMMELL AS UNIVERSITY REGENT

THE joint committee of house and senate of the legislature has named W. H. Gemmell of Brainerd a regent of the University of Minnesota, representing the sixth district.

Mr. Gemmell is a graduate of the University law school and like any other alumnus has taken a deep and abiding interest in the university. His children have attended university and Mrs. Gemmell has been interested and has furthered many of the extension projects of the university.

In selecting Mr. Gemmell, the legislative committee has made a wise choice which meets with the general approval of people in this sixth district.

Mr. Gemmell's duties as president of the Minnesota & International railway call him to St. Paul frequently, he keeps informed about conditions in a business, financial, economic and educational way throughout the sixth district, and he can take that broad outlook in university affairs that will reflect credit upon and benefit the state and the university.

HARRY F. MICHAEL AS A FRUIT GROWER

DISPATCH readers were glad to scan the article from the "Arizona Producer," appearing in recent issue, which showed that Harry F. Michael, formerly of Brainerd, had been very successful as a fruit grower in the valley at Phoenix, Arizona.

The Rotary club has heard from the former co-founder of the club at times, but the letters have generally been brief, and the cards briefer still.

Mr. Michael in according the interview to the Arizona farm paper was not amiss in giving Brainerd publicity too and referred to the days when he was instrumental in giving Brainerd its first real flower show and in stimulating interest in peony and glad culture.

In raising citrus quality seedlings in Arizona, it took toil and study on the part of Mr. Michael, plus a very discouraging start the first year when his hands were pelted with hail. But perseverance won success and today he has established a record and reputation as a grower and set his own price on his production.

Experts have praised him and "The Arizona Producer" devotes almost a page to picture and study of his seed plots.

THE MAN WHO SAYS HE ISN'T HUNGRY

HAVE you ever had a guest for dinner who sat down with an apologetic air and said he had no appetite, that he wasn't a bit hungry and that he had just eaten a luncheon?

Well, every housewife and every host at a dinner party knows what to expect. The aforesaid alleged satiated party starts out with a vim and vigor which attacks every course and at the finish he has stored away as much food as the rest of the party who honestly were hungry and prepared to eat a meal.

All we can figure out is that the satiated individual falls a prey to good cooking and unconsciously assimilates another meal in spite of the loudly asserted fact that he isn't a bit hungry and couldn't think of eating anything.

I suppose, however, the host and hostess would get a shock if the guest would say: "I've just had what amounted to a good meal, but I will sit down and eat another, thanks to your kind invitation and the good cooking which I see revealed."

If the silent movies are really to become obsolete, the proprietors of the motion picture theaters will soon be in a position to share some of the thrilling moments that the members of the printing craft have been experiencing for the past 15 years. New machines will occasionally have to be installed that will wipe out the balance in a tidy bank account. But as the motion picture directors are very resourceful in giving the public what it demands, it is safe to predict that these machines will be placed on the market at a more reasonable price than the printers pay for the linotypes and presses.—Long Prairie Leader.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Robeline struggled cheerfully along as the wife of Quinn Holden, Texas minister. Beneath a cheery smile was a bruised heart. Irene could never capture Holden's love for his first wife, Lilith, that now was given to his beautiful blonde daughter, named after her dead mother. Lilith was spoiled by her adoring father. Tina, his daughter by Irene, a dazzling brunette with Ross, Lundy and Patricia, younger children, all came second in his affections. When Lilith goes to New York for a year's music study she meets her first taste of grief. Falling in love with Bill Chester, she breaks her engagement to a Texas boy. Bill called to Paris by his rich grandfather, cables Lilith that he is marrying Sally Burton, to whom he was engaged. Lilith, shaken with anger and bitterness, learns she is to have a child. Irene, afraid Dr. Lundy secretly care for her in New York to prevent Holden from knowing the truth. After the infant's premature birth and death, they return home with Lilith. Happiness prevails as Tina is preparing wedding plans for her marriage to a handsome local lad. They will tour the world on their honeymoon. Irene is torn by happiness for Tina and fear for Lilith's shame becoming known. Lilith slowly recovers—more beautiful than ever and her father's idol. He forbids her return to New York. Likewise he denies Tina permission for an early wedding date. Dan, Tina's fiancé, is conscious of Lilith's exquisite beauty. An atmosphere of tense foreboding permeates the house at the wedding date nears.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LXX.

ON Wednesday afternoon Lilith went downtown to do some shopping, and strayed past Dan's office building at the hour when he usually left his work. She was waiting dreamily on the street corner when he came out with his hat pulled down over his eyes, his jaw firmly set. He strode toward his car, so absorbed in his thoughts that he jostled against her before he saw her.

Startled out of his absent-mindedness, he cried sharply, "Lilith!" "Yes; it's I," she said, softly, serious eyed, unsmiling. They stood for a moment staring at each other, unmindful of the throng that brushed against them.

She spoke at last. "Are you going my way? May I ride with you?"

He recovered himself with an effort. "By all means!"

He took her arm to guide her through the crowd to his car. When he had steered his way through the main street to a quieter one that led in the direction of the parsonage, she spoke in a casual tone.

"Let's go toward the country for a breath of air. Home is so cluttered up with presents and callers that I am stifled. Do you mind?"

He hesitated for an instant. "No, of course not," he said with formality.

As she sat beside him, her hands were lightly clasped in her lap, the wind blowing her short cold hair below the little white hat with its blue flower, the pulse in her throat fluttered and her eyes were downcast.

"Where do you want to go?" he asked in a strained voice.

"Anywhere you say," she answered softly.

"I'd say," he began, then broke off abruptly and stared ahead.

"What should you say?" Her question was almost a whisper, but clear, distinct.

"Nothing, nothing," he muttered.

"Nothing is—everything." Her words were light as soap bubbles, colored by mysterious emotions.

He shot a glance almost of terror at her. "What do you mean?"

"I think you know." Her blue eyes held his in a burning glance. The man's face flushed darkly, as if a blow had left its crimson imprint, even to the roots of his chestnut hair. "What is it you mean, Lilith?"

"So he was going to make it hard for her, was he? Well, he was a gentleman, else she shouldn't care to take him, even as a ticket to Paris. Naturally, he would struggle. But she must move quickly—the time was so damnably short!"

"You were going to say that—would you like to go anywhere with me because you love me?"

"No!" He started so violently that the car, momentarily out of his control, almost ditched itself before he recovered his grip. He gave his attention to righting the machine, his face turned away from her.

She waited till they were headed toward a clear space again before she went on. "Do you mean to say it isn't true? Or merely that you weren't going to say it?"

"I'd be a cad, wouldn't I, to say such a thing to you, now?" She was sick with self-scorn for a moment. Then before her mind rose dizzy thoughts of Paris. She must get there and confront Bill—even if she died of shame the next instant!

"I shouldn't think you so," she said brokenly. "If people love each other, truth is always fair."

"You don't mean—you love me?" Lilith! There was incredulity, horror in his voice, but a mad joy in his gray eyes.

"Yes," she whispered. Her eyes held like a clinging kiss.

She felt his body trembling. He stepped on the gas and for a time they tore through space as if forgetful of the earth and all things on it. Then he slowed down and turned the car into a quiet country lane, where there was little traffic. He stopped the engine beside a field where negroes were at work picking cotton. Yellow sunflowers lined the lane.

"Now we'll talk this thing out."

"Yes," she drew her firmly blue scarf about her shoulders.

They looked at each other. His face was pale, his body rigid, the pupils of his eyes were dilated and his lips compressed, as if he were determined to master some emotion that was throttling him.

He lighted a cigarette and spoke in a tone that tried to be casual. "We mustn't lose our heads."

"Men are so ethical!" There was concentrated scorn in her tone. "A woman would smash promises right and left to go to the man she loved. She would go exultant, with remorseless pride. There was a fiery challenge, a contemptuous defiance in her look."

"Men are cowards!" The word was like a shock that recalled him to himself. "Then I'm a coward! Too much of one to wreck little Tina's life."

"Yes," he faced her ruthlessly. "We've got to forget this. We've got to remember nothing but Tina."

"Men are so honorable!"

(To be Continued)

We've got to remember that in five days—Tina and I are marrying."

"Could I forget? I remember no other fact in the universe. In five days you'll be starding to Paris—and I'll be left here alone."

He laid his hand over her. "Don't, Lilith," he entreated. "You don't really care about me. You're just overwrought. Say yes."

"I'm overwrought, yes. A heart-break isn't a nerve sedative, you know." Her eyes were filled with pain.

"A heart-break for you, Lilith? That's not possible." His tone was incredulous, tender.

She lifted her eyes to him. "I am a soul in torment."

"Oh, Lilith, darling, why?"

The dark lashes flicked against her cheeks. "How can I tell you why?"

She avoided a bitter delight from saying obvious truth to him. "If I loved—where my love is wrong—what hope have I? It's Tina who'll be with you—in Paris."

"We mustn't forget Tina," he said hoarsely. "You'll feel differently about this in a little while. You'll marry some one you'll give your whole heart to."

"I have given my whole heart once. I die a thousand deaths of shame to think... it is to some one who doesn't care for me... who could marry some one else."

His eyes were full of bewilderment, appeal. "I didn't dream—"

"Of course not. I face my world and pretend to smile... when I'm being—crucified."

His hands gripped the steering wheel as if to steady himself. "But I was engaged to Tina—before I scarcely knew you. If I weren't for Tina—I'd be worshipping you. Any man would."

"Oh, no!" The white hands clasped each other more closely.

"It's true."

"You mean you do care for me—a little—even though you are going away?" Her lips parted softly, her eyes were alight with eager inquiry.

"Yes," The word was dragged from his lips. "But there's Tina. We must remember our loyalty to her."

"Haven't I told myself that every hour? Do I want to fall in love with her sweetheart? I'd choose another way, if I could."

"I'd be a cur to hurt Tina," he said savagely.

"But don't we owe something to ourselves? To our love? Haven't we a right to be happy?"

"Not if it breaks Tina's heart, we haven't."

"Men are so ethical!" There was concentrated scorn in her tone. "A woman would smash promises right and left to go to the man she loved. She would go exultant, with remorseless pride. There was a fiery challenge, a contemptuous defiance in her look."

"Men are cowards!" The word was like a shock that recalled him to himself. "Then I'm a coward! Too much of one to wreck little Tina's life."

"Nothing, nothing," he muttered.

"Nothing is everything," Her words were light as soap bubbles, colored by mysterious emotions.

He shot a glance almost of terror at her. "What do you mean?"

"I think you know," Her blue eyes held his in a burning glance. The man's face flashed darkly, as if a blow had left its crimson imprint, even to the roots of his chestnut hair. "What is it you mean, Lilith?"

So he was going to make it hard for her, was he? Well, he was a gentleman, else she shouldn't care to take him, even as a ticket to Paris. Naturally, he would struggle. But she must move quickly—the time was so damnably short!

"You'd like to go anywhere with me because you love me?" "No!" He started so violently that the car, momentarily out of his control, almost ditched itself before he recovered his grip. He gave his attention to righting the machine, his face turned away from her.

She waited till they were headed toward a clear space again before she went on. "Do you mean to say it isn't true? Or merely that you weren't going to say it?"

"I'd be a cad, wouldn't I, to say such a thing to you now?" She was sick with self-scorn for a moment. Then before her mind rose dizzy thoughts of Paris. She must get there and confront Bill—even if she died of shame the next instant!

"I shouldn't think you so," she said brokenly. "If people love each other, truth is always fair."

"You don't mean—you love me?" Lilith! There was incredulity, horror in his voice, but a mad joy in his gray eyes.

"Yes," she whispered. Her eyes held like a clinging kiss. She felt his body trembling. He stepped on the gas and for a time they tore through space as if forgetful of the earth and all things on it. Then he slowed down and turned the car into a quiet country lane, where there was little traffic.

He stopped the engine beside a field where negroes were at work picking cotton. Yellow sunflowers lined the lane.

"Now we'll talk this thing out," "Yes," She drew her filmy blue scarf about her shoulders. They looked at each other. His face was pale, his body rigid, the pupils of his eyes were dilated and his lips compressed, as if he were determined to master some emotion that was threatening him.

He lighted a cigarette and spoke in a tone that tried to be casual. "We mustn't lose our heads."

YANKTON CAGERS' SIXTH AP-

NATIONAL MEET

St. Paul, April 4.—(UP)—But one northwest team—Yankton, S. D., remained in the running today for the national high school basketball championship.

Yankton advanced to the third round of play in the national tournament at the University of Chicago Wednesday by defeating Bristol, Conn., 25 to 14. The Yankton cagers represent South Dakota in the national meet for the sixth time in eight years.

Moorhead high, Minnesota state champions, dropped out of the title race in the first round Wednesday, losing by the scant margin of 30 to 29 to College Grove, Tenn. The other northwest team, Valley City, N. D., was defeated in the first round but set up a 17 to 12 victory Wednesday in a consolation game with Independence, Mo.

In today's third round play, Yankton meets Jones, Colo., at 5 P. M. and Valley City plays Brockton, Mass., at 2 P. M. in a consolation game.

By BERT DEMBY

Bartlett Gymnasium, Chicago, Ill., April 4.—Four favorites stood out today as 16 teams, survivors of the 40 original starters, began third round play in the University of Chicago's eleventh annual national interscholastic basketball tournament.

Far enough into the tournament play for their merits and demerits to stand out, Ashland, Ky., Athens, Texas; Vienna, Ga., and Wheeling, W. Va. were conceded a chance to win the championship.

The Texas team, a big fast-breaking aggregation, looked particularly good in its early games. It ran away from Cleveland, Tenn., in its first game and came back to defeat the strong Central High quintet from Oklahoma City, 24-15, in a fast game.

Ashland, winner of the championship last year, still is playing the long shot game, and has two men, Darby and Allen, who are fairly accurate from long distance.

Vienna, Ga., showed the best team play of the tournament. With no exceptionally large players, the team depends on passing and is accurate in shooting.

Wheeling is good at the passing game, handles the ball exceptionally well and has a great offensive. The defense might be better.

The "dark horse" honors go to Heath, Ky., a fast team from a rural school, 12 miles northwest of Paducah. The team has no indoor court and since uneven ground prevented its dribbling all year, it is strictly a passing team.

The 11 other teams which reached the third round are Naugatuck, Conn.; College Grove, Tenn.; Peaceto, Idaho; Jackson, Mich.; Yankton, S. D.; Jones, Colo.; Warren, Ark.; Raton, N. Mex.; Wheeler Miss.; Jena, La., and Classes High of Oklahoma City, Okla.

FAST GAME OF KITTENBALL TO
GROUNDS

Tonight the Sinclair Oil Co. diamondball team will clash with the Moose team at the Water Tower grounds at 6:15 o'clock.

The Sinclair Oil team, with "Tiny" Len Anderson as manager, is sponsored by the Sinclair Oil Co. and has secured through the courtesy of John Thompson, the local dealer, red and white jackets. The "Oilers" are considered the most serious contenders for the diamondball crown this year.

They have secured the services of Pitcher Carlton J. Werner, who hurls from the port side, and was one of the leading pitchers in the league last year. He comes to Brainerd with an enviable record of having won twenty-one consecutive victories in Duluth with an average of sixteen strike-outs per game. He will be supported by an all-star line-up which includes: Hively, Orth, Wise, Boyd, Loom (captain), Haultala, Soderlund, Welsh, Thompson, Hall, Black, Olson, Engbretson.

The Moose have collected a strong array of present and past baseball stars which include Morecomb, Ring, Erickson, Skiba, Crust, Block, Brandow, Butka, Montgomery, H. Kruger and F. George.

Last night the Northern Pacific Ry. defeated the Alderman-Maghan team 16 to 13 in a free-hitting contest. Alderman-Maghan took the lead in the first inning when they scored seven runs. The N. P. retaliated by putting five markers across in the same inning. In the second inning the "hardware" men scored two more runs but the N. P. came back to score seven runs and resume the lead which they held the rest of the game. In the fifth inning with the score 16 to 9 against them the Alderman-Maghan team started a rally when Spandel hit a home run with two on but the next three men were retired in order.

New York, April 4.—Few great baseball machines have looked worse in the spring than the Philadelphia Athletics during the past few weeks. Connie Mack's club has power, pitching strength and experience under hot fire during a grueling pennant race, but the Athletics are coming north looking like anything but a pennant contender.

Ball clubs that bloom in the spring usually wilt before September and the present plight of the Athletics may be an ominous foreboding for the New York Yankees.

For the present, however, it is Connie Mack, and not Miller Huggins, who must do the worrying.

Besides the Athletics' "convertible collapsible" infield Connie Mack has a badly-riddled pitching staff without the services of three of its leading members.

Lefty Grove may be so much dead weight on Connie Mack's hands for an indefinite period. The lean south-paw has a maimed finger on his pitching hand and is none too strong physically as the result of an attack of influenza which had him down in January.

Howard Ehmke, who seemed to be in better condition than usual this spring, was called away from the team by the illness of his wife and he is now at her bedside in Detroit. George Earnshaw has been retarded in his training because of groin trouble, due to adhesions. He spent some time at Hot Springs and it is not yet known if the trouble was remedied.

Between the three of them they won forty games last season, despite the fact that Earnshaw didn't join the club until late in the season and Ehmke wasn't in the best of shape.

Joe Boley has a "dead" arm and may not play at all this season which makes uncertain every place in the infield but second base, where reliable Max Bishop is playing sensationally.

A veteran Philadelphia baseball writer who is travelling with the Athletics believes that on present form the A's are no better than a fifth place club.

By QUIN HALL
After glimpsing the Boston Braves in training at St. Petersburg it is hard to predict anything very optimistic about the club's chances in this year's pennant gallop. It would probably be much better to do your predicting before seeing the team in action.

But baseball is a funny racket. Back in the Spring of 1914, if anyone had predicted that the Braves would win the pennant, he would have been guffawed off the lot. As late as July 1st that year it was still a sucker prediction but the Boston club pulled one of the biggest surprises ever recorded in baseball and won the rag. Everybody who did predicting that year was wrong. It is not impossible for everybody, who is laughing at the Braves now, to be all wet again this year. You never can tell in baseball.

Judge Fuchs has cornered some smart baseball brains in the acquisition of Johnny Evers and Hank Gowdy. Given a free rein these fellows might stage a surprise even with the rather mediocre material they have to work with.

The signing of Rabbit Maranville was another smart move. The Rabbit is no longer a kid in knee pants but he is always up on his England League. In 1920 he was traded to the Pirates for Southworth, Nicholson, an outfielder, and Barbare, an infielder and $15,000. In 1925, along with Charley Grimm, he was traded to the Cubs for Vic Aldridge, Charley Grantham and Niehaus, a first sacker. He was made manager of the Cubs, but didn't last long, and was claimed by waivers from the Cubs by the Brooklyn Robins in 1925. He drifted to the Rochester club and it was thought that his days under the big top were over, but the Cardinals signed him near the fax end of the 1927 season and, after churning for the St. Louis club until they won a pennant, he is now with the Braves.

The Rabbit used to be the playboy of the national pastime, but he has grown up. He hasn't flirted with the fast set for two years. Experience finally proved to him that a ball player can't stay up all night and play a fast game the next afternoon.

Maranville is vitally interested in playing winning ball and is anxious to give his club the best there is in him. Even if he is just used as a bench warmer, Maranville is sure to prove an asset to Boston, but it's likely that he'll be in the line-up almost every day with a lot of pep and a lot of cagey baseball as of yore.

Playboy Who Grew Up

By QUIN HALL
AFTER glimpsing the Boston Braves in training at St. Petersburg it is hard to predict anything very optimistic about the club's chances in this year's pennant gallop. It would probably be much better to do your predicting before seeing the team in action.

But baseball is a funny racket. Back in the Spring of 1914, if anyone had predicted that the Braves would win the pennant, he would have been guffawed off the lot. As late as July 1st that year it was still a sucker prediction but the Boston club pulled one of the biggest surprises ever recorded in baseball and won the rag. Everybody who did predicting that year was wrong. It is not impossible for everybody, who is laughing at the Braves now, to be all wet again this year. You never can tell in baseball.

Judge Fuchs has cornered some smart baseball brains in the acquisition of Johnny Evers and Hank Gowdy. Given a free rein these fellows might stage a surprise even with the rather mediocre material they have to work with.

The signing of Rabbit Maranville was another smart move. The Rabbit is no longer a kid in knee pants but he is always up on his England League. In 1920 he was traded to the Pirates for Southworth, Nicholson, an outfielder, and Barbare, an infielder and $15,000. In 1925, along with Charley Grimm, he was traded to the Cubs for Vic Aldridge, Charley Grantham and Niehaus, a first sacker. He was made manager of the Cubs, but didn't last long, and was claimed by waivers from the Cubs by the Brooklyn Robins in 1925. He drifted to the Rochester club and it was thought that his days under the big top were over, but the Cardinals signed him near the tag end of the 1927 season and, after churning for the St. Louis club until they won a pennant, he is now with the Braves.

The Rabbit used to be the playboy of the national pastime, but he has grown up. He hasn't flirted with the fast set for two years. Experience finally proved to him that a ball player can't stay up all night and play a fast game the next afternoon.

Maranville is vitally interested in playing winning ball and is anxious to give his club the best there is in him. Even if he is just used as a bench warmer, Maranville is sure to prove an asset to Boston, but it's likely that he'll be in the line-up almost every day with a lot of pep and a lot of cagey baseball as of yore.

"Hey, Bill!

I don't know which cigarette this is, but it sure wins my vote!"

W. H. (Bill) McCord, of Post & McCord, steel contractors for New York's tallest skyscrapers, holds cigarette test with 94 workers.

Friend, you're smoking a certain cigarette today because you feel it's the best brand for you. And maybe you're right. But have you ever really checked up? Ever said to Old Man Habit, "Now you step out of the room. I'm going to smoke the four leading brands with brand names forgotten and just let my taste say which one is best."

The other day one of these tests was made among the huskiest fellows in New York... those two-fisted chaps who work with steel girders, sky-high above the city streets.

Their own boss, Mr. W. H. McCord, was referee and score keeper. Each cigarette was "masked" and numbered. All Mr. McCord said was, "Tell me which one you like the best."

The result speaks for itself! 69 out of 94 men voted for OLD GOLD!

OLD GOLDS win time after time in these public tests, because smokers find them smoother and better... with not a cough in a carload.

The four leading brands of cigarettes... "masked" with numbered paper sleeves to conceal their brand names.

Public Installation of Officers Conducted in Masonic Hall

DeMOLAY HISTORY GIVEN

"Dad" Mitchell Relates Experiences at National Conclave of DeMolays

The Roosevelt Chapter of the DeMolays met last evening at the Masonic hall in a public installation of officers. A large number of friends were present for the installation.

The officers to be installed entered the room in their uniforms of dark trousers and white shirts, after which the Master Counsellor welcomed the visitors and explained the principles of the DeMolays, being mainly clean and manly living, respect for womanhood and patriotism. The following officers were then installed:

Master Counsellor—Eino Apuli.
Senior Counsellor—Russell Lind.
Junior Counsellor—Howard Brotherson.

Floyd Fredstrom, past Master Counsellor then thanked the DeMolay for their cooperation during the past six months and the new Master Counsellor Eino Apuli thanked the boys and promised with their cooperation to make the chapter a success during the coming six months.

A short program was given consisting of a piano solo by Marion Newman, duet by Mrs. Arthur Fredstrom and Miss Jennie Beck, reading by Miss Ruth Olson, saxophone solo by Roland Jenkins and duet by Roland Perkins and Al Mraz. R. R. Gould gave a brief history of the DeMolays and told of it being founded in Kansas City in the spring of 1919. On April 1 of that year the first chapter was organized and in the past ten years, there have been 500,000 members. The DeMolay organization is in every state in the union, Mexico, Panama, France, Italy, Philippine Islands and also a chapter on the battle ship fleet. The seven cardinal virtues taught to and by the young men are love of parents, reverence, patriotism, purity, courtesy, comradeship and fidelity.

Each chapter has a "Dad" to whom the boys can and do go for advice of all kinds. G. F. Mitchell is the "dad" here. The Brainerd chapter, known as the Roosevelt chapter, was instituted February 29, 1924 with 48 members. At the present time there are 85 members with five boys awaiting to be initiated. There have been 130 boys in Brainerd who have been DeMolays. Mr. Gould also explained that while the DeMolays are sponsored by the Masonic lodge, the membership is not limited to sons of Masons, but is open to all boys who are willing to subscribe to ideals of clean and manly living.

Lloyd Whitlock, the boy magician, was greatly enjoyed by all.

At 9 o'clock the lights in the hall were dimmed and the Master Counsellor said: "At this hour all over the land, brothers are bending above the cradles wherein lie children they love. Also at this hour the guests of institutions are preparing for the hours of rest. Let us pause a moment with the chaplain offers us a prayer for our mothers."

"Dad" Mitchell was called upon to say a few words and related some of his experience at Philadelphia where he attended the national conclave of the DeMolays. Henry I. Cohen spoke briefly on his enjoyment of seeing the work and commending the boys for the very fine manner in which they put on the degree. J.P. Anderson, the council advisor, told the gathering that the boys would attend a worship on Sunday, April 7 at the congregational church where Rev. N. P. Olmsted will deliver the address. The boys themselves will take part in the services.

A lunch consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee was served by the mothers of the DeMolay boys.

A certain element who appear to be in their height of glory when defacing and damaging property have so damaged the fire lookout tower on Ahrens Hill that District Forest Ranger E. H. Rhodes has been forced to place a padlock at the top of the tower.

Mr. Rhodes stated today that no one will be permitted on the tower unless an employee of the State Forestry department is present.

Recently, miscellaneous abused the privilege extended to the public to visit and inspect the tower by writing obscene language on the tower and damaging it so that considerable repairs will be necessary. Arrests are expected.

In addition boulders have been rolled into an excavation near the tower which had been dug last year for the foundation of a new forestry cabin which will be built this year.

The new cabin will be 16 feet by 24 feet and will house the watchman of the tower. J. W. Wicklund will be stationed on the hill this year.

RELIEF FROM CURSE
OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25¢ today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Company.

Miss Bernice McMasters of River-ton and the Misses Pearl and Violet King are visiting Miss Lucile Dullum.

There were about two hundred in attendance at the Easter Monday dance and all seemed to enjoy themselves. Mr. Swardout kept an eagle eye on all. A satisfactory supper was served.

Miss Christianson was seen riding through our burg Friday.

School is closed for Easter vacation. A merry time the youngsters are having.

The P. T. A. was held last Thursday evening in the school house. Miss Ruby Miller was in charge of the entertainment program and County Agent E. G. Roth explained 4-H club work. Supper was served. Many from without the district were in attendance.

Mrs. Dullum called on Mrs. Blackwood Thursday.

Mrs. Blackwood motored to Crosby Tuesday.

The children of District No. 5 enjoyed an egg hunt Thursday. Thanks to Miss Nyquist, our teacher.

PIGGY WIGGLY
MANAGER STANDS
OFF BANDIT

St. Paul, April 4.—(U.P.)—A bandit entered a Piggy Wiggly store here today, aimed a revolver at Manager A. J. Norman and said "Lie down on the floor or I'll shoot."

Norman said the fellow up quickly and said: "You haven't the guts to shoot."

The manager reached for a can of soup in lieu of a hand grenade and the bandit fled.

RELIEF FROM CURSE
OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25¢ today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Company. —adv
